IT company still moving forward despite economic climate

IT company VOXIT Ltd today announces the completion of their planned move to new office premises located in within Gosport Business Centre, Hampshire. The move demonstrates that the company continues to maintain its growth, since first trading in February 2007 and despite the current unpredictable global economy.

Previously based in Portsmouth, technology company VOXIT Ltd which is owned by local entrepreneur 'Scott Pinhorne' provides cost effective IT solutions, Business Telephony and support services for SME's and also more larger, established clients such as leading Internet Service Provider, Redstation Internet Ltd and STR Group Ltd, who are one of the South's largest recruitment agencies.

"Our core products, IT and business telephony is widely recognised as being the oxygen that businesses simply must have to maintain their businesses, and hence is why we as a company have as yet to see a decline in our customer base, our profits and general enquiries for our services" Scott Pinhorne, Managing Director.

As part of the move to Gosport Business Centre, the team at VOXIT Ltd will be hosting a number of free presentations at their new venue, such as 'Maximising IT for you business' and 'Daunted by your web site?' which will be open to for all businesses to attend. For further information please contact Barry Gorman to register your interest.
